Informed Consent for Treatment and Professional Disclosure Statement

This document contains important information about my professional services and business policies, your rights as a therapy client, and disclosures of information. Please read it carefully and jot down any questions that you might have so that we can discuss them at this or our next meeting. When you sign this document, it will represent an agreement between us.

PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES

Individuals or families usually seek counseling/therapy to work through difficult situations or particular problems. Counseling/therapy is intended to assist clients in achieving a higher level of functioning. The purpose and overall goal of therapy is to assist in addressing and reducing the influence of the presenting problem.

Counseling/therapy is not easily described in general statements. It varies depending on the personality of both the therapist and the client, on the particular issues that the client brings and on the therapeutic techniques used. There are many different methods that I may use to assess and deal with the problems that you hope to address. They may include: EMDR (Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing), Cognitive Behavioral approaches, EFT (Emotionally Focused Therapy), Redecision Therapy, Mindfulness therapy, Dreamwork, Bibliotherapy, and other techniques and procedures as needed. Counseling/therapy is not like a medical doctor visit. Instead, it calls for a very active effort on your part. In order for therapy to be most successful, you will need to work on things we talk about both during our sessions and at home.

RISKS

Counseling/therapy can have benefits and risks. Because therapy often involves discussing unpleasant aspects of your life, you may experience uncomfortable feelings like sadness, guilt, anger, frustration, loneliness and helplessness. On the other hand, therapy has also been shown to have benefits for people who go through it. Therapy often leads to better relationships, solutions to specific problems, and significant reductions in feelings of distress, but there are no guarantees that you will experience these improvements.

MEETINGS

My normal practice is to conduct a preliminary evaluation that may last one or two sessions. I will report to you whether I believe I can help you with your situation, or I will suggest another qualified professional who may have specific skills that would better benefit you. By the end of the evaluation, I will be able to offer you some first impressions of what our work will include and a treatment plan to follow. You should evaluate this information along with your own opinion about whether you feel comfortable working with me. Therapy involves a large commitment of time, money, and energy; so, you should be very careful about the therapist you select. I encourage you to ask questions. If you have questions regarding my procedures, we should discuss them whenever they arise. If therapy is begun, I will usually schedule one 55-minute ('therapy hour') session per week at a time we both agree on. Once an appointment hour is scheduled, you will be expected to pay for it in full unless you provide 24 hours advance notice of cancellation.

PROFESSIONAL FEES & SERVICES

My hourly fee for therapy sessions is $125.00. In addition to weekly appointments, I charge this amount for other professional services you may need, though I break down the hourly cost if I work for periods of less than one hour. Other services include report writing, telephone conversations lasting longer than 15 minutes, attendance at meetings with other professionals you have authorized, preparation of records or treatment summaries, and the time performing any other service you may request of me. The scope of my practice does not include participation in any way with cases that require my involvement in legal proceedings.

BILLING AND PAYMENTS

You will be expected to pay for each session at the time it is held.

If your account has not been paid for more than 60 days, and arrangements for payment have not been agreed upon, I have the option of using legal means to secure the payment. I will avoid using a collection agency or small claims court unless absolutely necessary. If such legal action is necessary, its costs will be included in the claim. In most collection situations, the only information that I release regarding a patient's treatment is her/his name, the nature of services provided, and the amount due. I strongly encourage you to talk with me directly if you are having financial difficulties so that we can work out a suitable plan.

INSURANCE REIMBURSEMENT

I do not bill insurance. In order to set realistic treatment goals and priorities, it is important to evaluate what resources are available to pay for your treatment. If you have a health insurance policy, it may provide some coverage for mental health services and therefore reimburse you for some of my services. However, you, not your insurance company, are responsible for the full payment of the fee, which we have agreed upon. Therefore, it is very important for you to find out exactly what mental health services your insurance policy covers.

If you want to be reimbursed by your insurance company, you should be aware that most insurance contracts require you to authorize me to provide a clinical diagnosis, a treatment plan or summary, or in rare cases, a copy of your entire record. This information will become part of the insurance company's files. While insurance companies claim to maintain confidentiality, I have no control over what they do with the information once they receive it. Most of my clients prefer to pay for their treatment privately, rather than trying to get insurance reimbursement in order to avoid the complexities that are described above.

CONTACTING ME: I am not immediately available by phone at most times. While I am in the office, I will not answer the phone while I am with a client. My phone is answered by voicemail which I check frequently. On my business days, I make every effort to return your call that day. I am not available on a 24-hour-a-day basis. If you have an emergency, and you feel you cannot wait for me to return your call, you should call your family physician or psychiatrist, a suicide hotline (800) 273-8255, or the emergency room and ask for the psychiatrist on call. If I will be unavailable for an extended period of time, I will notify you in advance of my absence and give you the name and telephone number of a trusted colleague. I can be reached by email or text for scheduling purposes only. Please do not leave detailed information via electronic means.

VIDEOTAPING AND RECORDING

In order for me to do my best work and to consistently improve my counseling, I often record sessions to review myself and to get professional guidance from master counseling consultants. Our work in counseling will not be affected by the recording. If at any time you change your mind we can stop the recording.

I may review these recording for myself or share them with my two consultant, James McCracken, LCSW and Vann Joines, PhD. Your confidentiality will be protected at all times. If a consultant knows you in any way whatsoever they will not view the recording and will keep your confidentiality as per standard professional guidelines.

MINORS

If you are under 18 years old, please be aware that the law may provide your parents/guardian the right to examine your treatment records. It is my policy to request an agreement from parents/guardians, in the form of this statement that they agree to give up access to your records. If they agree, I will provide them only with general information about our work together, unless I feel that there is a high risk that you will seriously harm yourself or someone else. In this case, I will notify them of my concern. I will also provide them with general summaries of your treatment. Before giving them any information, I will discuss the matter with you, if possible, and do my best to handle any objections that you may have with what I am prepared to discuss.
